

I used to recieve dozens of calls a day of people trying to sell something.
Life at home is so much better since I dont have to answer the phone all the time